TEACHING ENGLISH IN ASIA

IIMBIBE SKILLS TEFL ACADEMY

The job market and demand for English teachers in East and South East Asia is arguably the largest in the world. Many of these nations are highly industrialized, economically strong, and culturally put an emphasis on the importance of education. This combination has created a large outward recruitment market and many open positions for certified English teachers.

Asia is an excellent region of the world to consider for your career teaching abroad if you are looking to:

- Find a job in advance of being in the country
- Save money
- Receive benefits such as accommodations, medical insurance, flight allowance, work visa assistance, bonuses, vacation time, etc.
- Find a job at virtually any time of the year
- Teach children (there are opportunities to teach adults as well!)

Keep in mind this is a general overview of all the teaching markets in Asia and a few exceptions may apply so please read the specifics of each country in the chart below.

TEACHING ENGLISH IN LATIN AMERICA

A combination of rising living standards, integration with the globalized economy, and rapid growth in tourism has caused a surge in the demand for English instruction throughout Mexico, Central America, South America and a few countries in the Caribbean. While outward recruitment and the chance to save money aren't as strong in this part of the world as in other regions, there are still many great opportunities and experiences to be had.

Latin America is an excellent region of the world to consider for your career teaching abroad if you are looking to:

- Head overseas in January/February or July/August
- Teach adult students (there are some opportunities to teach children as well!)
- Interview with potential employers face-to-face in country
- Live a comfortable lifestyle while breaking even financially
- Teach in a country that doesn't necessarily require a bachelor's degree

Keep in mind this is a general overview of all the teaching markets in Latin America and a few exceptions may apply so please read the specific of each country in the chart below.

TEACHING ENGLISH IN EUROPE

The English teaching market in Europe is vast. Learning English has become more essential since 1993 when the EU was founded, making English a common language for business and education. Although there are many member countries of the EU, each country has their own hiring practices and visa rules for non-EU citizens. However, if you have EU citizenship, you will not need to apply separately for a work visa.

Europe is an excellent region of the world to consider for your career teaching abroad if you are looking to:

- Head overseas in September or January for the two main hiring seasons
- Interview with potential employers face-to-face in country (there are some opportunities to find work in advance!)
- Teach adult students (there are some opportunities to teach children as well!)
- Live a comfortable lifestyle while breaking even financially

Keep in mind this is a general overview of all the teaching markets in Europe and a few exceptions may apply so please read the specifics of each country in the chart below.

TEACHING ENGLISH IN THE MIDDLE EAST & NORTH AFRICA

From the shores of North Africa and the Eastern Mediterranean to the Persian Gulf, the Middle East incorporates a broad array of job markets for English teachers. Oil rich nations of the Persian Gulf offer some of the most lucrative ESL teaching positions in the world, but these markets can be small, competitive, and require advanced teaching credentials. There is also a high demand in other Middle Eastern countries, but the positions are more break-even in nature and don't require advanced teaching credentials.

The Middle East is an excellent region of the world to consider for your career teaching abroad if you are looking to:

- Find a job in advance of being in the country
- Save money
- Receive benefits such as accommodations, medical insurance, flight allowance, work visa assistance, etc.
- Find a job at virtually any time of the year
- Teach children or adults

Keep in mind this is a general overview of all the teaching markets in the Middle East and a few exceptions may apply so please read the specifics of each country in the chart below.

Frequently Asked Questions

Q.1 Is it worth getting a TEFL certification?

Ans. A TEFL certificate makes you stand out when applying for jobs So, get that certificate if having a good teaching job is one of your goals

Q.2 Will I have a job when I graduate from the course?

Ans. IIMBIBE SKILLS will help you prepare your resume and point you in the right direction for finding a job. Over 90% of our graduates have jobs waiting for them by the time they graduate from the course.

Q.3 What makes IIMBIBE SKILLS different from other providers?

Ans. We keep our class sizes small for a very simple reason - to ensure you have the personal attention you need to be a successful professional. Our course is a Practical Approach, providing you with skills, guidance and confidence that you will actually use in your teaching job. We keep our overhead and course prices low and pass the savings on to you. IIMBIBE SKILLS gives you lifetime job assistance

Q.4 Do I really need a certificate to teach English abroad?

Ans. Although schools in some parts of the world may only require that you be a native English speaker, most reputable institutions prefer to hire teachers with some training. The experience that you will gain in your course, particularly in the practical teaching of local students, will be incredibly valuable and you will have the knowledge and experience required to step into the world of teaching.

Q.5 Is it possible to not pass?

Ans. Yes, it is possible not to pass the course. Some trainees come to the course thinking that this will just be an excuse to travel and live abroad when in reality it involves hard work, discipline, and time management. Most people who haven't passed haven't done so because they didn't put in the proper time and effort and/or didn't ask for help when they were unsure of things. Again, if you're proactive, motivated, inquisitive, and show improvement, you should have no problem passing the course. If you are going to fail speak to the trainers and director about the options you'll have.

Frequently Asked Questions

Q.6 Do I need a university/college degree to enroll in the IIMBIBE SKILLS course?

Ans. Yes

Q.7 Do I have to be a native English speaker to become a teacher?

Ans. No, to enroll in a IIMBIBE SKILLS course you must have a level of English proficiency that enables you to understand and follow the course materials. You will need to demonstrate your ability to successfully teach English in your observed teaching practices.

Q.8 Which countries offer the best salaries?

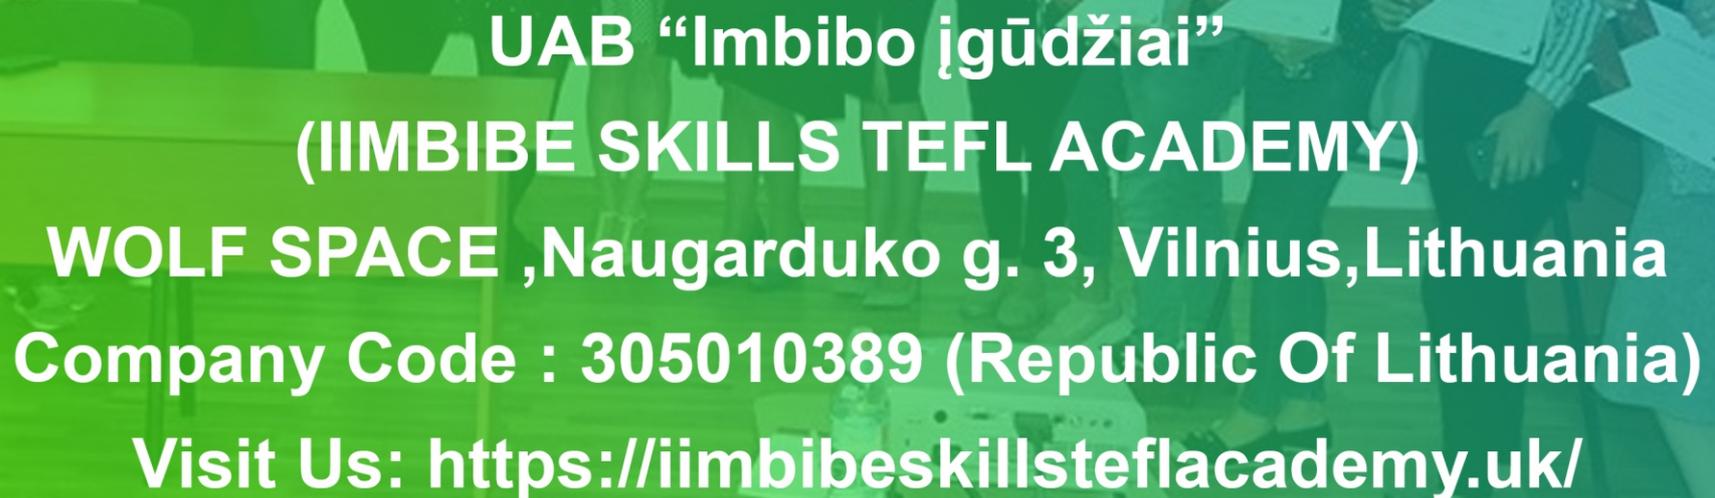

Ans. Typically Asia and the Middle East offer the highest salaries and best benefit packages - often including accommodations, health insurance, flight reimbursement and long holidays. Other parts of the world typically offer a salary to enable you a comfortable lifestyle, although you may not be able to save money to pay off student loans or other debts.

Q.9 How can I pay my deposit and course fees?

Ans. This varies somewhat by course location, however most locations accept PayPal and of course cash payments in USD, EUROS or local currency. Please check with the school location for complete details.

Q.10 Still have questions or ready to make a reservation?

Ans. We welcome your questions, comments and suggestions. You can contact us here with your questions or make a reservation here if you are ready to become a Great EFL Teacher.
